Provost Williams C. of E. Primary School

@ProvostWilliams

We have had a wonderful start to this half term. Reception class are fully immersed in their new topic 'By the Sea' and there has been a sudden appearance of a pirate ship in class, (rightly with a parrot not to far away) which has defiantly gone down a storm with all the children - and staff!

Around the school, children have been settling in to the new term. We had a visit to school this week, who commented on how well behaved and polite the children were, holding doors, letting other pass first, saying good morning to the adults in school. Showing the very best of PW!

The summer weather looks like it has finally made an appearance giving the opportunity for families to enjoy the outdoors. Like you, we are very much hoping this weather continues for the rest of the Summer Term. We would like to remind parents to ensure that children have sun cream applied at home before school and sent to school with a sunhat and fresh water in their water bottles. If parents wish to send their children to school with sun cream to reapply before break and lunchtime, then we welcome this. However, teachers aren't able to apply the cream so parents will need to help children to learn this skill for themselves at home.

We are working hard to show the children that being in school and being on time has a very positive impact on their progress and also has other benefits.

Before half term Mrs Lampe Cullen hosted the wellbeing sessions for children who met the attendance criteria and this week was Early Bird Week. Prizes to be awarded next week for those children who managed a clean sheet for Early Bird Week.

Mrs Lampe Cullen's Recommended reads

The emotional well-being of children is just as important as their physical health but it's not something that all children are taught about or are offered support for. Understanding empathy and growing emotional intelligence allows children and young people to develop the resilience to cope with whatever life throws at them and grow into well-rounded, healthy adults.

When Sidney spots a wishing well in the long grass on his way to school, he thinks he might have found the answer to the problems he's having with his friend Billy. If he can just wish for exactly the right thing, then surely Billy will want to be friends with him again? But as Sidney makes his wishes, what he doesn't realise is that the friend he's longing for has been beside him all the time.
